INFORMATION LETTER/UPDATE:

GENERAL INFORMATION:

When I heard the news about the Connecticut shooting, it was like a kick in the gut. These incidents have become more common place and I see it as a result of our loose culture.

A simple solution which I think is long overdue is to place:

- A full time Police Officer
- Or a retired Police Officer
- Or a contract Armed Security Officer

in every school. It would only take a week's worth of active shooter response training to get them up to speed. Require them take a physical fitness and shooting test once a year and it would solve many of these active shooter attacks and reduce the casualty rate in others.

Further, schools should have doors that cannot be accessed from the outside and visitors should be channeled through central control points to control access.

Teachers should teach and not carry guns unless they are proficient in their use. A state CCW permit is geared to the lowest common denominator. Also, they would have to ensure the weapon is on them the entire school day. I can see the problems when one leaves their weapon in a bag or in a desk and forgets about it.

We need to put security in all of our schools as there will always be problems and not just for the crazed gunman wanting a body count. Teachers have killed other teachers and spouses have killed their teacher counterpart in schools. Many domestic situations have been drug into our nation's schools and it will continue in the future.

The assigned security officer will also act as a liaison to local law enforcement and can help plan each schools lockdown response and how to interface with active shooter response teams. This is easy to implement. Local communities can do this without the help of the federal government and they can do it now. We need to make our schools a hard target for gunmen.

The sad part is that I hear a great deal of liberals who do not support this despite the years of attacks. I cannot understand this mentality of not wanting to protect our kids.

Finally, mental health issues and our society need to be addressed with realistic goals and objectives to help people. This means more access to mental health care to help the troubled ones in our society.

LE CORNER:

As I outlined above, this can be implemented very easy in local venues where you do not have officers permanently assigned. It would be a great semi-retirement job for those wanting to ease out of the profession and still give back to the community.

Finally, remember many good people are sheep and expect someone to save them. They will not fight and expect the good guys to roll hard and save them. Stay trained, in shape with your weapons zeroed and ready.

New stats from the Force science newsletter

IV. New stats on the growing threat of rapid mass murder

Ron Borsch, who monitors active killing incidents worldwide, has released his latest statistical summary, indicating that the frequency of these bloody events is continuing to escalate and that the interruption of a suspect's murderous rampage is most likely to be initiated by a single citizen or LEO.

Borsch, manager of the Southeast Area Law Enforcement Regional Training Academy in Bedford, OH, tracks what he terms Rapid Mass Murder (RMM): four or more persons slain within 20 minutes in a public place.

He also tallies attempted RMMs: incidents that would likely have reached the four-victim level had they not been aborted. Attempts, he concedes, are a case-by-case judgment call, determined by the number of persons wounded, the weapons and ammunition the offender had, suicide notes, and/or other evidence suggesting apparent intent.

Among Borsch's findings:

- RMMs are at a record high. From 1975 through the Columbine massacre, "successful" and attempted RMMs in the US and abroad averaged one per year. Post-Columbine through 2010, the yearly average was four. Last year there were eight, and the total for 2012 through Thanksgiving was 9.

- Statistically, the most dangerous months are March (23%) and April (16%), with September and December tied at 11%.
- Schools (pre-school through 12th grade) are target 38% of the time; colleges/universities 17%; and churches/religious facilities 10%.
- Intervention occurs to stop the killing in just over half the incidents, Borsch estimates. Of known aborts, two-thirds are accomplished by civilians and one-third by law enforcement.
- Citizens for the most part act unarmed, and eight out of 10 times their intervention is initiated by a single actor. "When law enforcement successfully stops RMM," Borsch reports, "the abort is initiated by a solo officer seven out of 10 times."
- Borsch has found examples of successful two-officer and three-officer intervention on occasion, but he says he has "never been able to objectively document a case where four or more officers acting together in a formation have been able to stop RMM."

The single most important training take-away, in Borsch's opinion: "Agencies need to emphasize single-officer tactics for responding to active-killer threats and de-emphasize or abandon multiple-officer 'posse' exercises, which still persist as a sacred cow in some jurisdictions."

INSTRUCTOR NOTES

I am still getting a few students who show up to Advanced SWAT classes with no rear sight on their weapon and simply an issued optic. Optics are great, but a slight drizzle in the last class during the rifle range fire put many out of action as they could not see and would have to wipe to make the shot. I have also talked to officers who said their optic took 1-2 minutes to de-fog after being taken from an air conditioned patrol car into a humid environment. Do them and the community they protect a favor and have back up iron sights on their right and ensure they zero them.

MONTHLY PERSPECTIVE:

You cannot turn on a one hour T.V. show at night and not see at least 1-5 people killed in that episode with some realistic details on the weekly CSI flick. I choose not to watch it because I have seen a great deal of real world death in my life and choose to entertain my brain with less caustic visions.

Maybe the president should put a little pressure on his Hollywood chums to curtail the unrelenting slew of TV shows and movies that glamour the violence.

As for our offspring, they need discipline. They also want to see it in you as a parent and as you know will sometimes push your button to see when you will act. Making them uncomfortable and understanding there are right and left boundaries in life are important to all kids and will ensure the next generation is not the weak link in our evolution as is many of the current generation are.

Another issue is that many parents are weak and do not want any confrontation with their kids and allow them to push, push and push until failure and then wonder what happened. If you don't have the guts to stand up to your kids and make them do what is right, don't breed.

My view of many hypocritical actors....

CLASSROOM/ LODGE:

No changes

EQUIPMENT:

James William's new knife is almost out. It is the Otanashi Noh Ken and it is the knife in the center of the photo. It is longer and thinner than the original Hissatsu folder and does not have an opening assist blade. It is fitted with a reversible end clip that allows it to worn deeper in the pocket. Also, the blade lock is manual, not automatic as with the Hissatsu folder. It is a great concealed carry blade.

The Otanashi Noh Ken is the lower of the two knives above. James said they will be out after the Shot Show in January.

CLASS PAYMENTS

You will have a slot in the course when I receive payment for the class. In the case of an agency, when they officially request an invoice. I have had too many individuals not show up lately and I intend to put a stop to it.

I would prefer you send a check as the credit card costs for processing are substantial.

Thanks and we look forward to seeing you all soon.
